

Quick Drawer Slides

Some of the older wooden drawers in my house just don't slide in and out like they should. They bind and catch in the drawer slides, especially in the more humid months of the year. Here's a quick fix I discovered that will have your sticky drawers gliding smoothly across the slides.

Try inserting metal thumb tacks on the bottom of the drawer and on the front of the drawer opening, see below. I use two on the cabinet front rail and two on the drawer bottom at the back.
